Assistant District-Attorney Vernon M. Davis this morning concluded the summing up for the prosecution of Gen. Milton 8. Littleheld on trial before Recorder Smyth In Part I. Court of General Sessions, for the larceny of $5,100 from Mrs. Josephine Stephani.

Mrs. Stephani claimed that the ex-Briga-All Stocks but American Sugar dier obtained the money from her by trand, claiming that he had used it to have her son Alphonse, who murdered ex-Judge Clinton 3. Reynolds, declared insane.

Young Stephani was, however, held responsible for his act and sentenced to prison for week opened with a very dull speculation, life, whereupon the action against Gen. Littiefield was commenced.

The defense contended that Gen. Littlefield's action was an act of irlendship. He

> WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Senate and louse Committee on Immigration sitting jointly to-day continued to question Assistant Secretary Nettleton as to the manner in which the appropriation to complete the buildings on Ellis Island have been expended. Consulting some documents, Mr. Nettleton, at the request of the Committee gave the total number of awards of contracts and aceptances as sixty-eight, of which number thirty-two were awards and thirty-six additional contracts. Of the whole number, fourteen contracts were let after due advertise ments in the press, fourteen by circular letter

Of the allotment of $115,000 for the main building proper there yet remained unpaid to the contractors $12,000. This had been reserved under the rules of the Treasury Department, and would not be paid until the building had been approved and accepted. This had not been done yet.

The building had not been accepted and the last payment had not peen made for the reason that the foundation had been found to be weak.

To an Evening World reporter who went to Ellis Island this morning Col. John B. Weber, Commissioner of Immigration, said that he knew nothing about the alleged ex-travagant expenditures on the island, be-cause he had had nothing whatever to do with them. Florence Ethel Osborne, who was sentenced travagant expenditures on the island, because he had had nothing whatever to do with them.

"None of the local authorities had anything to do with the matter," continued Cot. Weber, "except the Collector of Customs, who handled the money; but that was a mere formally.

"All the contracts, I think, were made in Washington. I don't know how they were made, but I presume bids were advertised for in the usual way, and that the contracts went to the lowest oldders."

It is said that the very fact that the authorities at Washington had full charge or building the new station and controlled the insuese amount of patronage incident to the heavy disbursements, brought about the present investigation, and that it was first in stirred up by Republican politicians in this city, who leb, but because they were deprived of possible crumbs of patronage.

Regarding a Washington despatch saying that Assistant Secretary Nettleton and written a letter of criticism to Col, Weber, and that Col. Weber had answered it defending this course, Col. Wet er said this morning:

The big Commissioner had spent three nights supervising the work of removing the happy, for he had succeeded in making some impression on the snow heaps. All the snow has been removed from Broadway as far north as Forty-second street, and from all the ferry streets except Fulton, where a force of men and carts were engaged this morning in taking away the last of the miniacure mountains. The streets besides Broadway which have been cleared of snow are Cortlandt, Liberty, Wall, Barclay, Chambers and New Chambers, Christopher, Catharine and Desbrosses.

To-day a force of men is at work on Forty-second street, between Third avenue and Broadway, and to-night an attack will be made on the accumulations in Twenty-third and Fourteeath streets.

Commissioner Brennan said that he had no idea how many men or carts had been employed in the work, nor bow many loads had been dumped into the rivers as a result of his three nights' work. He had been too busily engaged in getting the show off the pavements to pay attention to the detail of statistics. No reports have yet been received from the foremen.

"Some idea of the work done," said Mr. Brennan, "can be had when it is known that we took 5,000 loads of snow off Broadway Friday night without making much of an impression on the heaps." The streets besides Broadway which have the Government now paid $75 a day to a ferry company for the use of a boat from 6 A. M. to 9 F. M. It was cheaper, he thought to contract for the carrying of traffic by this means than for the Government to have its own line of boats.

The present arrangement, however, was only temporary and could be dispensed with at any time.

Regarding telegraphic communication from the island to the main land, it was shown that there existed a much dilaphdated and practically useless cable from Ellis Island to Jersey City, but as its condition was usually bad no practical benefit was derived from it. When it worked it worked very well, but it seldom worked. The authorities at Ellis Island had complained in the strongest terms of the inefficiency of the telegraph service furnished.
